~Come Grow with Us~

Advisor: Ms. Marinelli

"If you have a garden and a library, you have everything you need."

~Cicero, 106-43 B.C.

Gardening powerfully connects children with the natural world. It promotes healthy lifestyles, eating habits, and exercise away from digital devices. The children will learn sustainable practices, growing food to nourish the body and flowers to nourish the soul. They will be involved in hands-on activities, learning practices from seed to table. Gardening with students encourages a sense of community, and social development while instilling a calming sense of place, solace, and mindfulness.
